Postal Stationery of Greece 1900-1920

On June 14, 1900 was signed by King George I and published in the Official Gazette No. 150A' /1900 the B. Decree regulating the transmission by post office of postcards, illustrated and not. In the same Decree were decided and put into circulation the new postcards, simple and with an answer, for domestic and abroad use. Giovanni Bologna's Flying Mercury were depicted on the printed stamps of these postcards. It was possible for the holders of the stamps without a printed stamp to sealed them at the National Stamp Office or at the Public Treasury, where there was no stamp shop, with a printed stamp of the same representation. The purpose of this exhibition was to show the different types and varieties of the second edition of the Greek single sheets from 1900 to 1920. The structure of the exhibition was divided into 5 different types of single sheets: Postcards (illustrated and plain, with or without reply), short letters, form strips, postal checks and parcel dispatch slips. In the development of the exhibition were presented - with chronological order - the various internal and external values, printing types with varieties of papers and printing inks, printing errors, as well as postages, routes and destinations. The exhibition were divided, in 5 frame, postal single sheets of Greece, from 1900 to 1920, as shown in the following note:

Unofficial illustrated postal cards, Printed postage 1900

On June 14, 1900, George I signed a Royal Decree that regulated the transmission by post office of postcards- illustrated or not. Within 8 days from the publication of the Decree, the owners of the postcards had to declare the quantity they had in stock, at the National Sealing Office or at the Public Treasury, where there was no sealing office, so to be able to seal them until the 12/31/1900 and in a quantity of 1000 pieces, since of course they had pre-paid the postage to the Public Treasury. At a second Decree in 28/6/1900 an extension was given until the 31/7/1900 and the quantity could be less than 1000 pieces. This deadline was again extended by a new Decree until the end of February of 1901. On these postcards were placed a printed stamp, with a representation of Flying Mercury by Giovanni Bologna, 5l. green inside and 10l. red outside. Two or three printed stamps of 5l. or 10 min. it was worn when the postcards consisted of two or three sheets. The article 9 of the Decree of 14/6/1900 also allowed individuals to print images, performances or advertisements themselves, on the white side of the single sheet, with the obligation to have the Publisher's name below of the image or text. These single sheets were sold per 1000 with a 2% discount and the publisher could sell them for 10l. in addition to the postage .

Postal Stationery of Greece 1900-1920

Official illustrated postal cards of the Hellenic postal service

According to the article 10 of the Royal Decree of 14.6.1900, the General Directorate of Posts was charged to organize a competition among artists and photographers, professionals or amateurs, in order to adopt the best pictures that would be used to illustrate the postal cards issued by the Greek Postal Service. For each prototype that was approved, the contestant was receiving the agreed fee, had to deliver the negative plates and renounced the rights of reproduction (copyright). On 1.6.1901 was issued that the decree that was governing the issuance and circulation of the illustrated postal cards. The first series was issued by the postal service on 1.7.1901. These postal cards had a printed stamp on the upper right part of the address side, which was a design of Flying Hermes made by Giovanni Bologna 5l. green for the domestic mail and 10l. rose carmine for international mail. Also, on the top left part of the address side, was embossed a colorless 10l. Flying Hermes stamp, which was representing the value (cost of production) of the cards. That is, the cards destined for local use were sold at 15l. and those for foreign use were sold at 20l. On the illustrated side of the card, was printed a serial number following a monogram, an illustration with inscription in Greek and French. According to the official figures, the Postal Service issued during the period 1.7.1901.-20.3.1903, 12 series consisting of 32 illustrated cards each, that is a total of 384(12x32) different cards, printed either in 3 different colors (green, black or brown) or in one single

Parcel Postal Cards Domestic with "ΑΞΙΑΣ ΛΕΠΤΩΝ 5" 1915

By Royal Decree which was published in the Official Gazette No405A' /31.12.1914 was decided that all postal money orders and parcel cards in use, with printed stamp or not, be devalued on April 1, 1915 and from that date on, their new value would be 5 lepta, set by a rubber handstamp of rectangle shape including the words "ΑΞΙΑΣ ΛΕΠΤΩΝ 5" (5 lepta value).

This handstamp is found in three colours: violet, blue and black. From then on, the printed stamp is not valid, the 5 lepta value represents the value of the card and, when used, the relevant fee must be paid by affixing on it the appropriate postage stamps. It is not known the number of each value of postal money orders that were in stock in the post offices when the decision for the overprint was taken nor if all the colours of ink were used for each of them.

Overprinted money order cards to reuse as postal cards for domestic use

By Royal Decree which was published in the Official Gazette No 119A' /30.5.1918 it was decided that all in stock postal money orders with printed stamp be overprinted appropriately in red colour and replace the title and printed text with new words "ΑΞΙΑΣ ΛΕΠΤΩΝ 5".

However, it seems that the Postal Service didn't quite follow the orders. Because all the overprinted cards, we have seen so far, do not bear this rubber handstamp.

There are two types of overprint: -the first type has the text printed with fonts in italics-the second type has the text printed with regular fonts and, in addition, there is a 3-line text reading "ΥΠΗΡΕΣΙΑ ΤΑΧΥΔΡΟΜΙΚΩΝ ΔΕΜΑΤΩΝ ΕΝ ΤΩ ΕΣΩΤΕΡΙΚΩ" (Parcel post service for the interior of the country)

It is not known the number of each of postal money orders that were in stock in the post offices when the decision for the overprint was taken.
